Building Applications Show City's Growth

The evidence of Carmel's growth during 1925 is apparent on all sides. Business concerns have increased in number as shown by license collections. Postoffice receipts were the largest in any year heretofore. Water, light and telephone services were extensively installed. School attendance is the largest ever.

But the most convincing evidence of growth, aside from population, is furnished by a compilation of the building and improvement applications filed with the City Clerk.

The totals by months are as follows:

January	$72,180
February	51,575
March	69,105
April	35,606
May	51,375
June	19,665
July	16,380
August	17,645
September	21,750
October	60,925
November - December	47,810

TOTAL $464,016

This total may be easily increased 25 per cent, as the figures on the applications filed are the minimum estimates of cost in nearly every case. Reckoning on this basis, it may be assumed that new buildings for business and residences erected in Carmel during 1925 reached a cost of over half a million dollars.

CITY TRUSTEES TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

The city trustees will hold the first regular meeting of 1926 next Monday evening. With Carmel growing as it is, plans must be made to meet the various problems that will arise during this new year. It is probable that a budget, more or less elastic, will be adopted. An ordinance adopting the house-numbering plan will have to be passed. Revision of the present li-is hoped that before long a building code will be adopted.

The terms of three trustees, William T. Kibbler, C. O. Gould and Helen W. Parkes, will expire in April. No public announcement has as yet been made as to whether any of the foregoing will be candidates for reelection.

WELL-KNOWN CARMELITE RETURNS FROM EAST

Hazel Watrous, of Denny and Watrous, returned to Carmel the day before Christmas, after a three-months' trip to New York.

The Misses Denny and Watrous, with Miss Watrous' sister, Mrs. Walter L. Catlett, motored all through the state of Connecticut, up the Hudson, through Long Island, around Boston, Salem and Marblehead, and up to Plymouth and Provincetown, Cape Cod. They found much of interest in the simple and dignified early American home building.

Dene Denny is returning to Carmel in January. She is staying in New York a few weeks longer to complete work she is doing in music with Leo Ornstein, pianist and composer of modern music.

SUPPER TO PRECEDE ANNUAL PARISH MEETING

The annual meeting of the parish-ners of All Saints (Episcopal) Parish will be held at the Community House next Tuesday evening. At this meeting the vestry, officers, and delegates for the coming year will be elected, and financial and other reports will be presented.

On the initiative of Rev. Austin B. Chinn, pastor of the parish, an innovation this year is that the business meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30. Should time permit there will be a musical program.

BOY SCOUT LEADERS MEET

A meeting of the members of the Boy Scout District Council was held in Monterey last Tuesday night, to discuss with W. H. Normand, Scout Executive, progress of the financial drive now under way on Monterey Peninsula.

Together with Scout workers from Santa Cruz and Watsonville the nine Peninsula leaders will meet on February 2 to discuss betterment of Scout work.

The members of the Peninsula committee and their particular work are as follows: Chairman of the district committee, Dr. H. L. Brownell; vice-chairman, William J. Gould of Pacific Grove; vice-chairman, Dr. Herman A. Spoehr of Carmel; president of the Court of Honor, Ray. DeYoe of Carmel; head of the education committee, Ed Simpson of Pacific Grove; head of the camping committee, Wade Sargent of Monterey; finance committee, Sheldon Gilmer of Pacific Grove; chairman of the supervision committee, Rev. Austin B. Chinn of Carmel, and E. F. St. Armand of Monterey.

TO EXHIBIT IN PALO ALTO

Johan Hagemeyer, of this city, one of the best-known photographers in the country, time and again a prize-winner in various competitions, has been invited by the Palo Alto Art Club to exhibit his camera studies in that city.

The exhibition is now on. It comprises about fifty portrait and industrial studies. Several of the portraits are of Carmelites.

The exhibition will continue to January 15.

LOCAL MAN ON RESEARCH BOARD

Dr. Herman A. Spoehr of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, which organization maintains a laboratory in Carmel, is a member of a group of scientific men who will scour the entire world for hints for the development of a new forestry policy for the United States.

The National Research Council, operating on a grant of $50,000 provided by the General Education Board of New York, has undertaken the task, and its workers are about to begin an examination of all the sciences, from the directly related subjects of botany and zoology to the ones more remotely concerned, like geology and chemistry, with a view to correlating all the information obtainable in the development of new ideas.

The survey was first proposed by Chief Forester W. B. Greeley of the U. S. Forest Service, and will be carried through by Dean H. S. Graves of the Yale school of forestry, Prof. L. W. Bailey of Harvard University and Dr. H. A. Spoehr of this city.

REM'S PLAY GOES OVER BIG

Scores and scores of kiddies, seated on rugs before the stage in Arts and Crafts Hall, had their fill of thrills on the afternoon of Christmas day. They came in response to Rem's invitation to meet "The Gingerbread Man."

Before the Gingerbread Man (of the Hour) appeared, George Ball, Helen Judson, Stewart Woolcott and the Josselyn brothers entertained the children—and some grown-ups.

In the play, "The Old Lady Who Lived Alone," (except for a black cat) was excellently portrayed by Rhoda Johnson, attired in an old-fashioned costume. Of course Rem, with reinforced whiskers, made a fine "Santa Claus." Ernest Schweninger was the floppy "Gingerbread Man."

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA RECEIVES PAINTINGS

Jose Moya del Pino's copies of Velazquez masterpieces worth more than $100,000, have been presented to the University of California, it was announced yesterday. These 41 paintings have been on display for some months in the M. H. de Young memorial museum. Del Pino made the reproductions under the patronage of the King of Spain.

He later brought them to San Francisco. A committee had been formed there to raise funds to buy the paintings for the city.

GOT YOURS YET?

More than 1,400,000 California motor car owners will begin today the task of replacing their old black and yellow license plates with the blue and white numerals for 1926. From its headquarters in Sacramento and three branch offices in Northern and Central California, the Division of Motor Vehicles will undertake the tremendous task of verifying records and issuing almost one and one-half million sets of plates in the short period of four weeks.

Miss Myrtle Arne, a student in the University of California, has returned to Berkeley. She spent the holidays here with her parents.

Country Club Building to Be Completed May 1

Completion on May 1, 1926, of the $150,000 Monterey Peninsula Golf and Country Club building is the goal of Lingren and Swinnerton, the contractors.

Ideal, is the site of the clubhouse on the hill overlooking Moss Beach. It is surrounded by tall timber through which a view of the ocean is obtained over the tops of the Monterey pines.

The golf course has been literally carved out of the dense Del Monte forest. Through the woods and along the ocean the golfer will pursue the little white ball to his heart's delight.

Adjacent to the clubhouse there will be a swimming pool and tennis courts. In all of the structure the Spanish-California type of architecture will be followed. For the main building the foundation is already in.

The interior decorations are in charge of Miss Helen Criss, who is executing a similar function at the new Hotel Del Monte.

Members of the club are those who have purchased home sites on the Monterey Peninsula Country Club tract. These land owners will build along the golf greens and in the adjacent woods.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA LIBRARY EXHIBIT

From out of its vast store of old manuscripts and rare books the University of California library is displaying a number of specimens of book-making of the Near East in one of the large exhibition cases in the main library hall. Practically all of the valuable possessions of the library are kept in the Treasure Room or in the archives, and only for a limited period are some of these possessions displayed before the student body.

Outstanding among the treasures in the present exhibit is an ancient Mexican manuscript entitled "The Books of Anahuac." Although this piece of work does not appear to belong with the exhibit of Persian manuscripts, yet it is marked as a Vatican MSS. and is an example of the extent of the Vatican possessions. Another of the rare books is "The Book of Hours" with a calendar in Old French and text in Latin.

Of the Persian material "The Divan of Hafiz of Shiraz" is declared one of the finest examples of ornate book-making. The manuscript is written in gilt with colored rulings and contains the illuminated title page. It is bound in Persian morocco and ornamented with flowers in Ispahan lacquer. "The Four Gospels in Armenian" is a manuscript of about 100 leaves of heavy wax paper belonging to either the twelfth, thirteenth or fourteenth centuries. Its binding is old velvet from which the metal ornaments have been removed.

A Palm Leaf manuscript in the display is typical of the book-making among the Buddhist monks of Further India, according to the placard attached. This manuscript came from a monastery in Chiengmai in northern Siam and was presented to the university library in 1885 by C. B. Bradley.

In addition there is a facsimile manuscript on papyrus in the collection.

Elsie Lincoln Benedict left for Los Angeles last Wednesday for a three-months' lecture engagement.

The GOLDEN RULE in PRACTICE

A series of articles by prominent leaders on the Golden Rule as a guide in International Relations.

FURTHERING WORLD PEACE

By SIR ESME HOWARD

British Ambassador to the United States

PUBLIC opinion in America is rallying to the belief that the nation's own prosperity depends to a great extent on the prosperity of others. By helping the Near East Relief you are laying a great foundation for America's future in foreign lands.

You may think it strange that I, as an Englishman, should rejoice to see American competition growing in these countries of the Near East. I do so not only because as a sincere friend and admirer I am glad to see prosperity in this country, but also because I believe it will bring prosperity to those countries also.

At the time of the Christian exodus from Anatolia, 1,500,000 refugees were received into impoverished Greece. It is estimated that fifty per cent of these people are now able to provide for themselves. The Greek government is spending millions for this purpose, and the refugee commission of the League of Nations is administering a large international loan for the same purpose. I say this to show how impossible it is to expect these overburdened agencies to take over the million household children whom the Near East Relief is so generously and efficiently supporting, teaching them to earn their own living and become useful citizens. For the Near East Relief not only gives these children what we generally mean by education, but also teaches them all kinds of trades by which they may become self-supporting as they grow up.

Here is a work in which we all, whatever our faith, can gladly and heartily co-operate. It is a common ground on which we can all join in the service of God and of our fellow men.

Golden Rule Sunday will be observed throughout the United States in December, on behalf of the Near East Relief. This series of articles, by prominent public men who are supporters and spokesmen for this great philanthropy, is designed to call public attention to the background and purpose of the work and its need for general support.

Chief Inspector Sounds Keynote to Purifying Nation's Milk Supply

Interior of a Milk Pasteurizing Plant.

At the 14th annual convention of the International Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors held at Indianapolis, recently, leading authorities of the United States and Canada submitted interesting and informative papers relative to the purification of the nation's milk supply.

In the closing session of the series of meetings, Dr. Roy F. Leslie, Chief Meat and Dairy Inspector of Cleveland, Ohio, emphasized the great importance of co-operative measures by the producer in the production of clean milk.

"With co-operation on the part of the milk producers," said Dr. Leslie, "much can be done along this line that would otherwise be impossible." He then told of how the public was kept informed of steps taken to control the milk supply with a view to safeguarding the health of all who use milk and dairy products.

"In Cleveland," said Dr. Leslie, "more than 70% of the milk is sold at one or another of a system of chain stores where the customer is given an allowance of 2 cents on the purchase of each quart of milk."

The 2 cents allowed covers the cost of delivery in the home and represents a saving of about 12% to the consumer.

Milk in Cleveland must be sold within 36 hours of pasteurizing.

Mr. J. V. Quigley, dairy adviser, Kansas City Consumers' League, Kansas City, Mo., followed with an account of the work of purifying the milk supply of that city.

He stated that milk produced in dairies where they follow all sanitary regulations such as clean stables, clipped udders and flanks of milk cows, thorough grooming and brushing of the animal before milking, and periodical tests for bacteria, brought to producers in the league 2 cents to 3 cents more per quart of milk than is received by those who were not members of the league.

Throughout the series of meetings, stress was laid upon the rapid strides being made towards a thorough and comprehensive inspection program of the milk supply of cities throughout the United States and Canada.

It is certain that the results of this work are reflected to a great extent in the increased consumption of milk by the people of the United States, and this increased consumption is sure to be reflected in monetary advantages for both the producer and the distributor. High quality will increase milk consumption and high consumption of milk will keep the milk market steady.

The A-C Dayton is a companionable radio. Like a good friend it is perfectly at ease wherever placed.

It gives you music when and how you like it—music as clear and sweet as when it left the artist—music without distortion so faithfully reproduced that the effect is human-like. Install an A-C Dayton radio and you can have all these and more.

Regardless of the price you pay for a radio, its true worth is judged by its performance. A-C Dayton's "100% performance" will satisfy every demand made of a good receiving set and do so at a price so moderate that you cannot afford to be without it. May we demonstrate?

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

WASHINGTON AT VALLEY FORGE

Twenty miles to the northwest of Philadelphia is a tract of land that has been converted into a spacious park. Thousands of persons visit it each year, but beginning June 1, 1926, when the Sesquicentennial International Exposition opens in Philadelphia, it is expected to prove a mecca for visitors from all parts of the country.

The tract is Valley Forge, where during the winter of 1777-78, Washington and the Continental Army encamped and endured hardships and intense cold in the cause of liberty.

Valley Forge has become one of the greatest shrines of American patriotism. Its roads and lawns are well-kept now, and monuments to the brave men who suffered there dot the landscape; but in spite of this the ground is much the same as it was when Washington and his troops were encamped there.

The Schuylkill River still flows by in imperturbable serenity, and Valley Creek still ripples past the grey stone building that was Washington's headquarters.

Midway up the valley of the creek, a half-mile from the river into which the creek flows, is a small building which, before revolutionary days, was occupied by a blacksmith and an iron founder. Valley Forge gets its name from this old building.

The forge is reputed to have been the first built in the province of Pennsylvania. Further up the stream is a grist and saw mill. The British, prior to their occupation of Philadelphia in 1777, burned the saw mill, but permitted the forge to remain unharmed, believing that they might be able to put it into use for the casting of cannon and other war-time metal working pursuits.

The story of the winter of 1777-78 at Valley Forge is one of dreadful hardships borne with unconquerable spirit. There was a desperate shortage of clothing and food, and many of the continental soldiers were forced to go without shoes.

Somehow, by bravery, self-sacrifice, endurance and fortitude the dreadful winter months were passed. Spring approached and the men became cheerful. Then came the news that the British had evacuated Philadelphia. On June 21, 1778, the little army crossed the Delaware in pursuit of the invaders, who were hurrying to New York. They fell upon them in upper New Jersey and the Battle of Monmouth followed.

Thus ended the occupation of Valley Forge, but the park which now marks the spot of the historic encampment will remain as a perpetual reminder of the heroic sacrifices of Washington and his men.

NEW YEAR, 1926

By EDWARD RETICKER

New Year's,
And so we close this book
To start anew.
No sighs,
Nor cast behind a look—
The Book is You.

Shut it up and start again,
And know each day's account
Records the tiniest amount
By which we grow as men.

Mind not the blots. The stain
Fades with the lesson learned.
Our souls are something earned
Through sorrow, grief and pain.

Record the smiles, the Song
Of Life we know as Love
That lifts our course above
The paths of human wrong

Record it All, and know
No fate shall hold the pen.
We are not pawns, but men,
And choose the ways we go.

New Year's
Again must close the book
As time rolls by God keep Me unashamed to look—
The Book is I.

The quarters for the Cinderella Shop on Ocean avenue, across the street from the present location, are nearly ready for occupancy. Meantime, Miss Janet Prentiss is conducting a removal sale.

BENEFIT DANCE AT ARTS AND CRAFTS

The Carmel Humane Society will give a Dance Wednesday, January 6th—Twelfth Night—at the Arts and Crafts Hall. The dance, which is for the benefit of the Humane Society, promises to be a brilliant affair, and the cutting of the "Twelfth Night Cake" will be a feature of the evening. Good music, dancing, and a supper will make a full evening.

Tickets may be had from the offices of the club or at the door on the evening of the dance, and entitles all to a slice of the cake that will foretell the future.

Miss Georgia Sally White, former Carmel school teacher, and a party of friends spent the entire week here. They were house guests of Mrs. Etha Fox. They celebrated at Del Monte last night.

ADVERTISING REDUCES PRICES

PERSONS who have not given the subject of advertising serious thought may be inclined to believe that standard products could be sold cheaper if the manufacturers did not spend so much money in advertising them. The contrary is the truth.

Every concern which seeks a general market for its goods finds it necessary to set aside a certain sum each year for advertising, and this is charged as a part of the operating expenses, the same as rent, fuel or insurance. The aim of the advertising manager is to buy the largest possible circulation among persons who would be interested in his product.

Every manufacturer has certain fixed charges which must be paid out of the receipts from the business, and the larger the volume of business that can be created the less per article is charged for the payment of overhead costs. This volume of business is obtained only by creating a demand for the goods, and it is most quickly and cheaply done by direct appeal through the newspapers.

The same principle which obtains in the case of the general advertiser could be applied in the business of the smallest merchant. The quicker the turnover which a dealer is able to make the sooner his profit is obtained and the cash is put in the till for new purchases. Advertising of the practical kind will help to make quicker sales and more frequent profits. The result is that the retailer, with the aid of the general advertiser, is able to maintain standard prices and quality in the widely advertised articles.

COOPERATION TAKES PLACE OF CONFLICT

THE interrelation of business and government is being realized more clearly every day. President W. S. Gifford, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, told the Investment Bankers Association at its annual convention.

"Not so long ago," Mr. Gifford stated, "the business world was opposed to any form of government regulation, but today it is felt that such regulation can be worked out with every prospect of advantage."

Discussing employee and customer ownership of large utilities, he said: "With it would seem to go a change in relations between labor and capital. The old master and servant idea which almost necessarily existed when the owner was manager, is giving place to a system based more on the spirit of cooperation than of conflict."

"With the increased facilities for transportation and communication, the entire country is becoming rapidly homogeneous. The North, East, South, and West are each losing whatever peculiar and distinctive qualities they had, and the country as a whole is becoming a vast neighborhood."

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

A Review of California Conditions from

WELLS FARGO BANK & UNION TRUST CO., SAN FRANCISCO

CALIFORNIA—General rains toward the end of November and in the first few days of December benefited pastures and ranges, which are in good condition in most sections. Seasonal rainfall, while coming at opportune times, has been below normal throughout practically the whole of California, with the exception of San Diego county. The pack of snow in the mountains is very light for this time of year. The bean harvest was practically finished in November, with an estimated yield, including all varieties, of approximately 4,000,000 bushels, compared with a short crop last year of 2,600,000 bushels. Acreage planted this year was approximately 30% greater than in 1924. Inasmuch as there was an abnormally light carry-over of beans this year, there is at present about the same quantity to be distributed as last year, and prices, while considerably below 1924 levels, compare favorably with the years previous.

It is estimated that this year's out-turn of rice in California will be little more than the 4,497,000 bushels produced in 1924. Nearly 13,000 more acres were planted this year than last, but due to unfavorable weather conditions a considerable part of the expected crop was not harvested.

COTTON

The California cotton crop of 1925 will total 126,000 bales, according to estimate of the agricultural statistician, Sacramento, based on conditions prevailing December 1. Total acreage harvested, according to forecast, will be approximately 172,000, with an average yield per acre of 351 lbs.—the highest of any state, and which compares with 162.3 lbs. for the country as a whole. Harvest is late, and only about 54% of the crop had been ginned December 1.

LUMBER

Demand for California white and sugar pine lumber is better than usual for this time of year, with buying particularly active in the New England states, and prices are strengthening a little. California mills are generally shutting down at this time for the annual overhaul and replacement of machinery, and it is said that full advantage will be taken of this period to put producers in shape for spring activity. The California White and Sugar Pine Manufacturers' Association reports that total production of lumber this year in California and Southern Oregon, exclusive of redwood, will approximate 1 1/4 billion feet, the largest yearly production in history and approximately 10% greater than last year. Shipments have paralleled output, so that stocks next spring will be in very satisfactory condition. It is estimated by California Redwood Association that total production of redwood in California this year will reach approximately 490,000,000 feet, compared with a production of approximately 560,000,000 feet last year. Demand for Douglas fir has been improving in the past sixty days and large shipments of this variety, together with some redwood, are moving to New England and Florida.

AUTOMOBILES

Passenger automobile sales in California in November increased 85% over the same month last year, while truck sales showed a 32% gain. In Northern California passenger car sales increased 63% and trucks 46%, while in Southern California 101% more passenger cars were sold and truck sales gained 22%. Dealers report that the public has been buying actively thus far in December, with unusual demand for Christmas day deliveries.

SAN FRANCISCO—Retail trade for the month of November in San Francisco showed a gain of 11.9% over last year, according to the preliminary report of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. California as a whole registered an increase of 11.8% and the Twelfth Reserve District showed a gain of 9.5%, which is the largest increase of any reserve district.

BANK CLEARINGS

San Francisco bank clearings for the first eleven months of 1925 totaled $8,572,111,046, compared with $7,612,800,000 in the same period last year, and $8,365,700,000 for the entire twelve months of 1924.

SHIPPING

Shipping through the port of San Francisco continues to increase steadily, according to figures showing tonnage of cargoes handled at this harbor for the past three months. The combined tonnage of departures and arrivals in these months, compared with last year, is as follows:

	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.
Tons	Tons	Tons	Tons
1925	2,519,074	2,824,066	2,566,066
1924	2,361,573	2,412,143	2,211,863

ART NOTES

ART AT PHILADELPHIA EXPOSITION

Art lovers who visit the Sesquicentennial Exposition at Philadelphia, from June 1 to December 1, this year, will see one of the most notable collections of pictures ever brought together from all over the world. Approximately 1,000 paintings have been promised from foreign, official and private sources. They will be confined to works executed within the last fifty years. There are in America sufficient examples of classic and modern paintings dating before the last half century which may be obtained by loan for the exhibition to furnish the desirable touch of historic perspective.

Since such a valuable collection of pictures would not be entrusted for exhibition in any building which can now be erected on the Exposition grounds, arrangements have been made to house them either in the Art Museum, if that structure will be sufficiently finished by June 1, or else the Academy of Fine Arts, whose directors have made a most generous offer of space.

EXHIBITION FROM SWEDEN

There is now on exhibition at the Chicago Art Institute a group of paintings of the Swedish artist, Gustaf A. Fjastad. There are twenty-four pictures in all, consisting wholly of landscapes, and as may be imagined, the majority of them are scenes of snow, ice and running water, for Fjastad is noted as Sweden's premier snow painter. Formerly a champion skater, Fjastad pictures as does no other artist, the inviolate whiteness of winter. His technique has individuality, his type is naturalistic and yet is possessed of great beauty of design. Critics concede that rarely have snow and frost effects been so convincingly painted. Gustaf Fjastad is a native of Stockholm, born there in 1868.

RARE OLD PRINT

A valued possession of Cambridge Lodge, No. 3, A. F. & A. M., of Slater, Missouri, is an old print showing pictures of famous personages in the Revolutionary War. This print was found recently by John K. Dulaney, Past Master.

In the center is the picture of George Washington. Surrounding it are pictures of the Marquis de Lafayette; General Joseph Warren, who commanded the American patriots at the battle of Bunker Hill and was killed there in action; General Israel Putnam, who made the famous horse-back ride down a steep flight of stone steps to escape the British; General Richard Montgomery, who captured Quebec and was mortally wounded in that engagement; and General David Wooster, another courageous Revolutionary soldier.

In addition to these soldiers are shown Benjamin Franklin, whose fame will prevail as long as there is existence; James Otis, the Massachusetts patriot who early voiced his freedom convictions; John Marshall, who served as Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court for thirty-four years, and Edmund Randolph who was first Attorney General and later Secretary of State during Washington's administration.

HUDSON MEMORIAL PANEL TO REMAIN

Rima is to remain. The attempt to induce the British government to have the Epstein panel in the Hudson Memorial in Hyde Park removed failed, chiefly because it was felt that such an action inevitably would lead to the destruction of other public works of art at birth. The panel, though it has now been erected over six months, continues to be the "King Charles head" of all art discussions in London. When the eminently respectable Morning Post repeated several times, "Take it away," and several distinguished people, including the president of the Royal Academy, signed a manifesto asking that it be removed at once, there was a very real danger that the Office of Works (who erected it) would take it down. But somebody took the trouble to canvass the other side, with the result that one has the anomaly of eleven Royal Academicians, including such a notable artist as Sir John Lavery, signing a protest against removing the panel, in direct opposition to their president, Sir Frank Dicksee.

DON QUIXOTE STATUE TO COST $6,000,000

The fame and fortunes of Don Quixote de la Mancha, Knight, hero of Cervantes' masterpiece, are to be perpetuated in a giant monument to be built on the plains of El Toboso, birthplace of his beloved Dulcinea.

The mayor of Toledo, Spain, heads a committee of leading Cervantes scholars and friends of the author, who will collect the necessary funds, estimated to be 40,000,000 pesetas (about $6,000,000 at the present rate of exchange).

The plans call for a giant statue of Don Quixote, astride his steed, Rosinante, and Sancho Panza, his squire. The size of the monument will be about twenty times the life-size of the characters, to symbolize the twenty Spanish-speaking countries of the world. The memorial will be completed in about seven years.

Masonic Anniversaries in January

The first month of 1926 is rich in Masonic anniversaries and provides interesting disclosures. A glance into the past will show some of the nationally famous men who were members of the Fraternity, and the records for January contain the names of many noteworthy brethren.

James A. Garfield, twentieth president of the United States, became a member of Mithras Lodge of Perfection, A. & A. S. R., January 2, 1872, at Washington, D. C.

The 29th of this month marks the anniversary of the birth of William McKinley, our twenty-fifth President, who was born at Niles, Ohio, in 1843.

Theodore Roosevelt, who succeeded McKinley as Chief Executive, was initiated in Matinecock Lodge No. 806, Oyster Bay, N. Y., January 2, 1901. His death occurred January 6, 1919.

Warren G. Harding, the twenty-ninth President of the United States, received the Thirty-second Degree of Scottish Rite Freemasonry on January 5, 1921.

Gen. William Whipple, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, became a Mason in St. John's Lodge, Portsmouth, N. H., January 2, 1752.

On January 3, 1710, Richard Gridley was born. He served with the rank of Major General in the Revolutionary Army and on January 27, 1869, was appointed District Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts.

Gen. Isaac Putnam, born January 7, 1718, was made a Mason in a military lodge at Crown Point in 1758. General Putnam played a conspicuous part in the battles of '76.

Gen. John Stark received Masonic light January 8, 1778. His ability as a military strategist gained him the credit of winning the battle of Bennington (Vt.) in 1777.

John Hancock, first signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born at Quincy, Mass., January 12, 1737. He was made a Mason in Merchant's Lodge No. 277, Quebec, in 1762.

Gen. Hugh Mercer of Revolutionary fame and who at one time served as Master of Fredericksburg (Va.) Lodge No. 4, died January 12, 1777.

Jeremiah Mosher, a Brigadier General of the Revolution, became a Master Mason in Lodge No. 43, Lancaster, Pa., January 12, 1791.

Col. Joseph Montfort, American patriot, statesman and soldier, was appointed Provisional Grand Master of and for America January 14, 1771.

Benjamin Franklin, that famous American patriot, was born at Boston, Mass., January 17, 1706. He was initiated in St. John's Lodge, Philadelphia, Pa., entered, passed and raised 1730-31. In 1734 he was elected Grand Master of Pennsylvania and it is claimed that four years later he assisted at the initiation of Voltaire in Paris, France.

Ebenezer Marvin, a Captain of the American Revolution, was made a charter member of North Star Lodge, Manchester, Vt., January 20, 1785.

Paul Revere was born in Boston, Mass., January 1, 1735. On January 27, 1761, he became a member of St. Andrew's Chapter, R. A. M., in the same city.

Commodore Samuel Tucker, an officer of the Revolution, was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge, Boston, Mass., January 30, 1779.

Capt. Stephen Decatur was born at Sinnepuxent, Md., January 5, 1779. He was a member of Lodge No. 16, Baltimore, Md.

Commodore Edward Preble, who served with the American Squadron at the bombardment of Tripoli in 1804 was elected to membership in Portland Lodge, Maine, January 3, 1786.

John Fitch, a distinguished American inventor, was made a member of Bristol (Pa.) Lodge No. 25, January 4, 1785.

Gen. Albert Pike became an honorary member of Corning (N. Y.) Consistory, January 12, 1875. On January 15, 1886, he was made honorary Worshipful Master of Perletto Unione Lodge, Naples, Italy.

Caleb B. Smith, Secretary of the Interior under President Lincoln, was made a member of King Solomon's Chapter, Richmond, Ind., January 1, 1839.

Caleb Cushing, a noted constitutional lawyer and who attained fame as a hero of the Mexican War, was a member of St. John's Lodge, Newburyport, Mass.

Charles S. Stratton, who because of his diminutive height, gained the sobriquet of "Tom Thumb," was a member of St. John's Lodge No. 3, Bridgeport, Conn., and was also a Knight Templar.

John W. Geary, who had the distinction of serving as governor of two states (Kansas 1856-57 and Pennsylvania 1867-73) was made a Mason in St. John's Lodge No. 219, Pittsburgh, Pa., January 4, 1847.

Joseph G. Cannon ("Uncle Joe") for many years Speaker of the House of Representatives, became a member of Vermilion Chapter No. 82, Danville, Ill., January 1888. During the next month he was made a member of Athelstan Commandery No. 45.

MANY SNAKE MYTHS ARE BASELESS

Superstitious fear of snakes has led to persistent belief in various baseless myths about the habits of different species. The "hoop snake" and "stinging snake" traditions are among these. The hoop snake is credited with the power to form itself into a hoop and roll in pursuit of its victim with race-horse speed. If the victim dodges and a tree is struck by the hoop snake, the tree is said to be sure to die. That any snake could place its tail in its mouth and roll along is manifestly absurd and anatomically impossible, say biologists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The stinging-snake myth apparently originated more than 200 years ago. It was based on the appearance of the horn snake, which is harmless. The tail of this snake has the shape of a horn or spike, but it is quite incapable of piercing or stinging anything.

The so-called glass or jointed snake, people think, can break into pieces when struck and reassemble itself later if its head has not been captured or destroyed. This animal is really a legless lizard, which, like many other lizards, has the power of dropping its tail in escaping from a pursuer. Because of its food habits, this reptile is of considerable value to agriculture.

The myth of snakes sucking cows is entirely untenable. Anyone who has ever milked a cow knows that the pressure required to obtain a flow of milk is far greater than any snake could exert. Furthermore, a snake has two rows of recurved teeth in each jaw which would make sucking impossible.

The spreading viper or puffing adder, known also by other names, is one of the greatest bluffers among snakes. One of its peculiar habits is that of feigning death by rolling over on its back. It is entirely harmless, as is also the coach-whip snake, which is supposed to be able to whip a man to death.

PAINTING BRINGS $200,000

Two important events in the world of art were recently announced. The first was the statement by the Reinhardt Galleries that the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts had purchased at a price exceeding $200,000 Titian's "Temptation of Christ," most highly prized work of the famous sixteenth century Venetian master. The other was that the bulk of the celebrated art collection of the late Senator William A. Clark, of Montana, would be offered at public sale early in January.

The Titian is to go on exhibition Monday for two weeks at the Reinhardt Galleries prior to its removal to Minneapolis, and the public will be given its first opportunity to view much of Senator Clark's collection when his paintings and other works of art are placed on sale.

It had been generally supposed that Senator Clark's will provided for disposal of the entire collection to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York or to the Corcoran Art Gallery in Washington. Attorneys for the estate explained, however, that only certain portions of the collection were bequeathed to these institutions and that some of the finest pieces still remained in possession of the family.

Purchase by the Minneapolis institution of the Titian masterpiece was regarded by art lovers as a distinct departure for a midwestern institution, for art experts here say that with the exception of the Chicago Museum of Fine Arts, no other institution in that section has paralleled the policy of the Minneapolis society in basing its collection definitely on a nucleus of works of old masters.

MUNSEY MONEY FOR ART

The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York is the chief beneficiary in the will of the late Frank Munsey, publisher.

The estate is said to be valued at more than forty million dollars. The museum will receive the residue of the estate, after other bequests are cared for. It is probable that the amount may reach thirty million.

The money is to be used for the advancement of artistic culture, which may include art scholarships, purchase of works of art, traveling exhibits and the establishment of art schools.

REV. SHELDON UNITES KERMAN COUPLE

On Thursday evening of last week, in the parsonage of the Carmel Church, Rev. Fred Sheldon tied the knot which made Miss Lena Steiner and Norman A. McInnes man and wife. Witnesses to the ceremony were Mrs. Sheldon and Martha D. Fellows. The couple are from Kerman, Cal., where the bride was a school teacher and the groom is connected with the Southern California Edison Co.

Miss Isabel Smith, of Los Angeles, is visiting her sister, Miss Mary Smith, at the Mission Tea House.

A number of Carmel young women and young men attending the various universities and colleges, who have been here over the holidays, are leaving today and tomorrow to resume their studies.

Emergency Pantry Meets Home Need

By META H. GIVEN
(Home Economist.)

Efficiency and economy go hand and hand in the home as well as in the business world. The emergency pantry, latest innovation in the cuisine of the modern housewife is particularly indicative of the truth of this statement.

This new sort of pantry—it may just be a shelf in the regular larder—does away with that bugaboo of the home maker, the surprise guest. Every woman has had the experience of welcoming an unexpected visitor when supplies were at low ebb and has searched high and low to find something presentable to put on the table. The emergency shelf in the pantry does away with such worries in short order.

A can opener and—presto—a veritable banquet can be prepared in a few minutes. The housewife may have her choice of many excellent meats, corn, tomatoes, mushrooms. If she is short of milk or cream, a can of evaporated milk, which is simply fresh cow's milk sterilized in the can and with sixty per cent of the water removed will do the trick. In fact she may have two hundred or more savory dishes ready to her hand.

When the surprise guest does arrive the hostess naturally wishes to be hospitable. She doesn't want to be tied to the kitchen range half the afternoon. She wants to entertain as she has been entertained.

It isn't possible if she has to phone frantically for the butcher, the grocer and the baker.

But that's only one of the places where the emergency pantry comes in. Backed by a well-stocked emergency shelf, the wife can get together a splendid luncheon or dinner in a jiffy. The spontaneous wish that comes at the last moment to informally invite a few friends for lunch can be gratified at once with the aid of the new pantry.

Afternoon tea for the bridge club is an equally easy matter. A glass of preserves or jelly, a platter of bread and butter, tea and a slice of cookies will meet the ordinary demands of the casual caller and a can of evaporated milk will answer the milk or cream need.

An Investment Working Day and Night---Rain or Shine

Think what it means for utility services to be interrupted for a single minute! Everyone knows how the companies make heavy investments merely to safeguard the service and how no exertions by local workers are too great to restore service in times of emergency.

Here is a lesson for the prudent investor. Services in such insistent, never-ending demand, mean steady employment of the funds invested in utility systems. All community and industrial growth is reflected in their legitimate earnings. In periods of depression their services are still required.
